Almost as good as being there
Ever wish you could send your patients to the lab so you could be sure everything is done right? Now you don't have to.

Check out a restorative in action
Stop by the exhibit hall for product demonstrations, and then go home with a few kits of them.

Sneak peek of the exhibit hall
Ready to face down aisle after aisle of new products and technology? Get a preview of what awaits before you head in there.

Start with a party
AACD kicks off scientific session at Jillian’s of Boston

The AACD Annual Scientific Session will kick off this evening with sports-style entertainment at Jillian’s of Boston, which is located just across from Fenway Park, where the Red Sox play.

The welcome reception, open to all registered attendees, will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Attendees are encouraged to wear their favorite sports team’s jersey to the event.

Jillian’s offers billiards, bowling, a dance floor and plasma televisions so guests can watch their favorite sports teams. On Wednesday night, the Red Sox are scheduled to play the Detroit Tigers.

Also during the event, attendees will have the chance to make a donation to Give Back A Smile, the premier program of the AACD’s charitable

AACD Annual Session: coming to a phone near you

Attendees can get all the annual scientific session information they need through a new smartphone app from the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry.

With the free app, available to smartphone users, attendees can check their personal itineraries, confirm course times and locations, and view course listings, exhibitors and speakers.

Course keys or speaker names are also searchable. Other relevant technology includes:

- The MyHynes app, which can be used to view venue maps, nearby restaurants and retail shops and transportation options.
- A QR reader app. Various QR codes will be used throughout the conference site.
- My Itinerary, which is available to AACD members through their My AACD accounts. My Itinerary allows users to keep track of their personal schedules and activities.

In addition, the AACD will host the AACD Twitter Wall, which features news about the latest conference happenings to keep attendees in the loop.

The Twitter Wall is located on Level 2 of the Hynes Convention Center at the entrance to the exhibit hall.

Here at the AACD
For more information, please visit the AACD website at www.aacd.com or log into My AACD on your smartphone.
foundation, for a chance to win a four-pack of tickets to Friday night’s Boston Red Sox game versus the Chicago Cubs or a Coach purse with accessories.

The winners will be announced at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the exhibit hall, and attendees must be present to receive the prizes.

The fundraiser is one of several ways attendees can donate to Give Back A Smile, which helps to restore the damaged smiles of domestic violence survivors.

A silent auction also will be held later this week for the chance to win trips to Hawaii or Alaska. By this week alone, the foundation hopes to raise $50,000, which will help to restore 250 smiles.

The AACD is providing transportation for attendees to the welcome reception. Buses will leave at 7 p.m. from the Boston Sheraton and Marriott Copley Place. Attendees must have their name badges to enter.

Jillian’s has been a hot spot for celebrity sightings in Boston, including Clint Eastwood, Ben Affleck, Mark Wahlberg and many Red Sox players.