Today’s doctor and staff sessions will feature a wide variety of topics ranging from craniofacial anomalies to lingual orthodontics to facial soft-tissue changes in orthodontics.

In addition to the wide variety of topics appealing specifically to orthodontists, the AAO will also welcome best-selling author and TV talk-show host Dr. Laura Berman for its featured speaker series.

Berman will speak today at 9:45 a.m. on “The Passion Prescription: Everything You Need to Know to Keep Your Body and Relationship Vibrant and Exciting for Life.”

Berman is the host of “In the Bedroom” on the Oprah Winfrey Network (OWN). She is also a regular guest on “The Dr. Oz Show” and previously starred in Showtime’s reality TV series, “Sexual Healing.”

Berman is a world-renowned sex and relationship expert who is considered a thought leader and innovator in her field. As a sex educator researcher and therapist for more than 20 years, she has helped countless couples build stronger relationships improve their sex lives and achieve a heightened level of intimacy.

This presentation may include some explicit material, and parental discretion is advised.

Within that area of the exhibit hall, you can stop by Colgate (booth No. 318) to pick up a free toothpaste sample and find out how you can make a difference in your patients’ oral health by recommending Colgate Total.

Next, you can head down to booth No. 241 at DMG America, where you can learn more about the company’s Kolorz Products, including Clearshield, Topcal Anesthetic Gel and Fluoride Foam. Kolorz Products offer the benefits of advanced gluten-free formulas, convenient applications options, non-caloric natural sweeteners and Xylitol.

To help out your patients who are athletes, you can stop by the Universal Orthodontic Lab (booth No. 950) and ask about Universal’s new technology for universal aligners and indirect bonding.

A short distance away at DENTSPLY GAC International’s booth, No. 1325, you should ask to hear more about the DENTSPLY OrthoLab. The DENTSPLY OrthoLab is a full-service national lab that provides a complete spectrum of appliances, and it’s the exclusive provider of Accudent® Indirect Bonding trays. Finally, you might want to stop by Honeysuckle Creations (booth No. 1848) to see all of the cool new products to brand your products and reward your patients. Some of these items include personalized toothpaste squeezers, stylos pens, double-wall tumblers, lip balms, tote bags and much more.

Once you’ve attended all the educational sessions and toured the exhibit halls as long as your legs can handle, you may want to head back to your hotel room and get dressed up for tonight’s AAO Gala from 7–9:30. Here, you can end the day with delicious food and fun conversation with your friends and colleagues within the AAO.

Sesame Communications (booth No. 301) is a great place to start your journey through the AAO exhibit hall, and while there, ask about how you can win a Vespa! Photo/Provided by Sesame Communications.
