Scenes from Sunday

- Got implants? Annamarie Pino, left, and Samantha Merrick of OCO Biomedical (booth No. 2224) do. They have the T-shirts, too!

- Mark Eisen, left, and Sandra Metz of DMG America (booth No. 2027).

- The team at Mydent International (booth No. 2215): Luiza Barros, from left, Phil Armijo and Meagan Wallace.

- The gang from DrQuickLook (booth No. 3829): Glynis Clark, from left, Erin Primerano and Vince Primerano.

- Meeting attendees learn more about D4D technology at the Henry Schein booth (No. 3824).

- Tom Batz of Aribex (booth No. 3538).

- Koichi Arakawa of Mani (booth No. 3932).

Photos by Robin Goodman and Fred Michmershuizen, today Staff
Sunday was kids’ day at the Greater New York Dental Meeting, with the special events hall on the lower level of the Jacob K. Javitz Convention Center packed with kids activities. The program included a puppet show, face painting, a bounce castle and carnival games.

Puppetry Arts, a nonprofit organization based in Park Slope in Brooklyn, presented a musical show filled with puppet characters.

Also as part of the children’s program, the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York sponsored a free child identification program.

If you are a VIP here at the Greater New York Dental Meeting, you’ve likely been to the executive headquarters where we snapped a photo of some of those who make it all happen, such as Katie L. Daniels and Avery Sandiford.

Tiffany Ralescu, from left, Michelle Mirza and Jenny C. Sherpa are all third-year dental students in New York City.

Dr. Mark Hochman of Milestone Scientific (booth No. 1818).

Frank Herrebout and Annelies Moors came all the way from Evergem, Belgium, to attend the Greater New York Dental Meeting.

Miri Wertzberger, dental assistant with a general practice in Pomona, N.Y., with her daughter, Leah, 4, who asked the face painter from Transformation Face Painting for ‘pink.’ (Photos & story/Rob Selleck, today staff)

Daniel Leung, DMD, endodontist with a practice in Newmarket, Ontario, with his green-monster, plate-spinning son Bennett. His son Carter also enjoyed the carnival activities.

Meghan Fialkoff, left, and Manijah Bazargan of the Fialkoff Dental Study Club (booth No. 4837).

Steele Monville, left, and Mike Gregory of Kilgore International (booth No. 1721).
Lauren McDonell of MIS Implants Technologies (booth No. 1623).

Jaeyoun Kim, left, and Dinesh Kumar of Hiossen (booth No. 3836).

Yukari Aritake, left, and Emiko Ota-Paussa of Osada (booth No. 1711).

This decorative tooth at Bay Area Media & Dental (booth No. 5007) blows bubbles.

Meeting attendees get a close look at some of the products available from KaVo (booth No. 3809).

Dimas Garcia, left, and Dick Linde of Technology4Medicine (booth No. 3818).

Dr. Jack Gruber of Peri-Swab (booth No. 1920). Gruber is inventor of the Periclean brushless tooth cleaner.

Charles Rieger of Sherman Specialty (booth No. 421).

Del Hemphill of TeleVox (booth No. 2830).
A presenter at VaTech America (booth No. 4018) offers educational information to meeting attendees.

Attendees take notes during a workshop in the ‘glass’ rooms on the exhibit hall floor. (Photo/Carlo Messina, FX Video & Photography)

Sun Jun Yun, from left, Dave Maricondo, Bryon Kim, Giselle Ann Jose and Stephen Quarcoo stopped for a photo during the General Practice Residency Fair on the South Lower Terrace on Sunday.

‘Where in the exhibit hall is ...?’ Check out one of the large maps before you enter the hall if you don’t have a program book handy.

Sandrijn Van Wunnik, from left, Eddy Botter, Lucas De Cleen and Robin Baas from the Netherlands are with Dental International, a company that makes the Dental Stand Alone Treatment Concept, and came to the New York meeting hoping to connect with U.S. distributors. If you are going to the International Dental Show in Cologne next March, you can visit their booth as they don’t have one here.

‘The flags by International Registration represent the many dentists who visit this show from abroad. (Photo/Carlo Messina, FX Video & Photography)

Need a shoe shine? It’s less expensive than you might think: $4 for a regular pair of shoes, $5 for half a boot and $6 for a full boot.

Dr. Samuel Low speaks Sunday morning on ‘Innovative Periodontics for Today’s Practice.’ (Photo/Carlo Messina, FX Video & Photography)

‘The flags by International Registration represent the many dentists who visit this show from abroad. (Photo/Carlo Messina, FX Video & Photography)

Dr. Samuel Low speaks Sunday morning on ‘Innovative Periodontics for Today’s Practice.’ (Photo/Carlo Messina, FX Video & Photography)