Does your next soft-tissue solution start with a fiber of innovation?

Exactly.

Answering your soft-tissue needs means putting our 165 years of collagen expertise to work – finding new ways to support your regenerative vision.

- Geistlich Fibro-Gide® is the first manufactured 3D volume-stable collagen matrix for soft-tissue regeneration – eliminating the need for a second surgical site and reducing procedure time.
- More than 1,000 prototypes led to a process called smart-linking, a cross-linking technique that enhances vital function and mechanical properties without compromising biocompatibility.
- This versatile breakthrough delivers treatment flexibility with unlimited product supply, absolute consistency, and no special storage requirements or preparation prior to use.

The innovative benefits of Geistlich Fibro-Gide® make it the ideal alternative to connective tissue grafts for increasing soft-tissue thickness around implants and natural teeth.

The Center for Higher Ambition Leadership (CHL) has awarded Henry Schein its inaugural Higher Ambition Company of the Year Award in recognition of the company’s commitment to proving that business can be a force for good.

The award was presented to Henry Schein’s Chairman of the Board and CEO Stanley M. Bergman at a CEO member dinner in early October hosted by CHL in New York.

CHL is a growing community of purposeful leaders working together to advance the practice and performance of leaders with a higher ambition. CHL supports members in building leadership and organizational capabilities to sustainably deliver superior economic and social value.

The Company of the Year Award will be presented annually to organizations that exemplify CHL’s mission and demonstrate:

• A track record of delivering sustained value for their stakeholders;
• That higher ambition leadership and practices are core to their culture and demonstrated at every level; and
• Leadership among peers and a commitment to creating and sharing practices that others can learn from and apply to their organizations and the greater good.

“In the competitive field of health care products and services distribution, Henry Schein stands out,” said CHL Board Director Ed Ludwig. “Team Schein demonstrates higher ambition values and practices in every facet of its business. Most notably, it has an intense commitment to building strong, trust-based relationships with all of its stakeholder groups — from employees to customers to suppliers to the communities around them—all while delivering consistent financial results over the long term and much more.”

With more than 1 million customers, more than 22,000 employees—known as Team Schein Members—and $12.5 billion in sales in 2017, Henry Schein is recognized for consistent, outstanding performance and “doing well by doing good.”

“It is truly an honor to accept this award on behalf of the more than 22,000 Team Schein Members in 34 countries around the world,” Bergman said. “There is no question that the road to Henry Schein’s long-term success over the past 86 years has been paved by our ability to develop deep, trust-based relationships with each of our five constituencies: our team, our customers, our supplier partners, our investors and society. This notion of ‘doing well by doing good’ really does work, and CHL has provided an exceptional community of like-minded companies to learn from and share our experiences with.”

CEO members of CHL nominate organizations to be considered for Higher Ambition Leadership Company of the Year Award. The nominees are reviewed, and the winner selected by the CHL Board of Directors. Visit the CHL website (www.higherambition.org) to read more about Henry’s Schein’s higher ambition practices.
